Dear Administrator:

The Inspired Classroom has been providing workshops and graduate level courses for over ten years. Our retreats are held twice a year: once in the winter and once in the summer. Our Winter Retreats focus on arts integration topics specific to Social-Emotional Learning and our Summer Retreats focus on general arts integration strategies, STEAM and SEL. Each retreat is unique as the content is always new, giving teachers the opportunity to attend retreats year after year, building new skills and attaining new strategies to use in their classrooms.

The workshops at every retreat, workshop and course are quality experiences taught by teachers and artists who believe in creating meaningful lessons for the teachers and, naturally their students, across all grade levels.

Retreat attendees are also given the opportunity to take the workshops as part of a graduate level course. In this case, teachers are asked to take their new skills and apply them to their teaching. These courses are designed to utilize face-to-face time as well as online learning through Moodle Cloud. Currently, The Inspired Classroom is partnered with Adams State University to complete these requirements. Teachers can earn 1 graduate credit for the Winter Retreat and 3 credits for the Summer Retreat.

In addition, The Inspired Classroom offers workshops throughout the year and new this summer (2018), that will include online self-paced classes and graduate courses for teachers.

If you have any questions about the professional development we offer teachers, please don't hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth M. Peterson
